Senior Care

It is 9 o'clock in the morning. Marie Louise is going down to the cellar for milk when it happens: She momentarily loses her balance and falls down the stairs. The 81-year-old woman breaks her leg. She cannot get up. She has no telephone with her. She has to stay where she is on the cold cellar floor in severe pain. What seems like an interminable 8 hours later, her daughter finds her. The woman is still lying on the floor and is now suffering from severe hypothermia. The fall sensor can prevent situations like this. It immediately informs all family members or authorised persons simultaneously. Accidents/falls like the one sustained by Marie Louise are typical of 85% of the over 60s. The inactivity sensor, which is installed at a frequently passed location in the home, also provides assistance. In the event of inability to move, a message is sent to next of kin after a preprogrammed period of time has elapsed. Why not give yourself and your next of kin peace of mind? The all-round protection for senior citizens: Fall sensor and panic button, reminder to take medication, and much more.

Automatic medication dispenser
